Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi on Sunday 24th September, 2017 urges in Mann ki Baat.

"This Gandhi Jayanti, let us buy a Khadi product and light the lamp of prosperity in the lives of the poor"

In one episode of Mann Ki Baat I had discussed about Khadi. Khadi is not a fabric but an idea, a principle. I have noticed that these days interest in Khadi has increased very much and I had just said that I was not asking people to makeover into wearing Khadi permanently; rather, since there are a number of fabrics then why not Khadi also be one of the fabrics of your choice? May be a bed-sheet in the house, a handkerchief or a curtain, it has been felt that the younger generation has developed interest in Khadi. Sale of Khadi has increased and as a result of this, the poor man's household has directly got connected to employment. Discount is offered on Khadi from 2nd October and people get quite a good rebate. I once again urge that we should try and take forward the Khadi movement. We should follow the spirit of helping the poor to be able to light a Diwali lamp. The poor of our country will derive strength from this and we must do it. The increasing interest in Khadi has infused a new thinking in those working in the Khadi sector as well as those connected, in any way, with Khadi. How do we bring in new technology, how do we increase productivity, how do we introduce looms driven by solar power? How do we rejuvenate our traditional heritage which was lying inactive for 20, 25 or 30 years?

Sewapuri Khadi Ashram at Varanasi in Uttar Pradesh was lying closed for 26 years but has got a fresh lease of life now. A number of thoughts were implemented. New employment opportunities were created for a number of people. Khadi Gramodyog revived its training centre at Pampore in

Shri Giriraj Singh is the new MSME Minister

New Delhi, Sept 4: Shri Giriraj Singh, who was MoS in the Ministry of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME), under the latest Cabinet reshuffle, has got independent charge of the Ministry.

Shri Kalraj Mishra, the former MSME minister resigned earlier paving way for Shri Singh. Giriraj Singh is the Member of Parliament from the Nawada constituency and a former minister in the cabinet of Nitish Kumar. Singh served the Cabinet of Bihar as co-oprative minister from 2005-2010 & Animal Husbandry minister from 2010 to 2013.

He is a member of Bihar State Bharatiya Janata Party's 16-member state election committee. Singh has been very active in promoting Khadi and other MSME sectors vigorously.

Kashmir and in this sector Kashmir has so much to offer. With the reopening of this training centre, the new generation will get a boost in jobs in manufacturing, in weaving, in creating new things and it feels so good to see that even big corporate Houses have started including Khadi items as Diwali gifts. Even people have started exchanging Khadi items as gifts. We now experience how something grows naturally.

Bihar KVIB has requested authorities in gov. dept. & DM to use khadi in their offices

The Bihar State Khadi and Village Industries Board has also requested a uthorities in government departments and district magistrates to use khadi or handloom upholstery in their offices, circuit houses and guesthouses.

Government employees, including IAS officers, in Bihar have been requested to wear *khadi*attire at least twice a week.

The request comes from the Bihar State Khadi and Village Industries Board (KVIB) in its initiative to promote khadi, considered to be Mahatama Gandhi's swadeshi (indigenous) weapon of political protest. The state is celebrating the centenary year of Champaran satyagraha this year.

The board, a unit of Bihar's industry department, has requested authorities in government offices and district magistrates to ensure that all employees turn up at their workplace in khadi, at least twice a week.

It has also requested them to use khadi or handloom upholstery in government offices, circuit houses and guesthouses.

"As part of chief minister Nitish Kumar's initiative to boost khadi and handloom industry, we have also requested DMs to ensure use of the swadeshi fabric in all its offices and government schools," KVIB chief executive officer (CEO) BN Prasad said.

"The rider attached with it is that the khadi fabric will have to be purchased only from KVIB-approved outlets or the Khadi and Village Industries Commission (KVIC - under the Union ministry of micro, small and medium enterprises)," Prasad added.

Some bureaucrats and employees had begun coming to office in khadi on Fridays, he said. "But we want all IAS officers, state service officers and employees to come to office in khadi for at least two days in a week," Prasad added.

"The initiative can be enforced only when the government approves a khadi policy," he said, adding that the fabric needed this kind of promotion to survive and sustain. "There are hardly five khadi board production-cum-sale outlets in the region, including the one near Gandhi Maidan in the state capital. Others are at Gaya, Bhagalpur, Chapra and Ara," he said.

"However, the region has many private outlets. Altogether 84 such outlets are approved either by the KVIB or the KVIC and are sustaining nearly 6,000 artisans of the region. With the support of KVIB, these outlets did a business of Rs 1.75 crore in 2016, while it had a turnover of hardly Rs 1 crore in 2014," he said.

Bihar State Handloom Weavers Cooperative Limited chairman Naquib Ahmad said the use of handloom and khadi in government offices would boost the industry.

Handloom weavers had been waiting for this kind of support and promotion for long, he said.

KVIC rejuvenates Sewapuri Khadi Ashram after 26 years on Sewa Diwas

Sewapuri (Varanasi): The Sewapuri Ashram was set up on November 5, 1946 by a group of Gandhians—all hailing from a well-known Khadi institution of Gandhian era 'Kshatriya Shri Gandhi Ashram'—under the guidance of the Mahatma Gandhiji, to promote khadi and provide employment to weavers. It was then formally inaugurated by Dr Rajendra Prasad, the first President of India and Gandhiji stayed here for quite some time, when 600 people used to work in this center those days. Spread in 12 acres of area, Sewapuri Ashram was one of the best Khadi centers in the country once upon a time. But, due to financial crunch and lack of proper management, the center was closed in 1990 and since then this erstwhile glorious centre that played a crucial role in the promotion of khadi virtually turned into a testimony of negligence. In its 26-odd years' of dilapidation, it turned into a jungle – with most of the structures biting the dust.

Many firsts

*First ever Lijjat Papad manufacturing unit in Varanasi district

*First ever CSR funds sanctioned on Khadi activities in the country

* A training centre to develop skills in leather goods, Agarbatti-making, soaps and detergents

*First ever edible salt manufacturing and packaging unit by any Khadi Institution in the country

*First ever unit of 250 solar charkhas and 25 solar loom under a single roof in the country

*First ever apiary with 100 bee-boxes for honey-production and training in Varanasi

* 500 women and men employed with many educated women passionately involved in production

The Khadi and Village Industries Commission (KVIC), who had been leaving no stone unturned for the revival of this centre of excellence of Gandhian philosophy of self-reliance and swadeshi. finally chose a day to formally reinaugurate it. On September 17 this year – on the occasion of Prime Minister and local MP Narendra Modi's birthday – better known as Sewa Diwas - Vinai Kumar Saxena, the KVIC Chairman reopened it, in presence of the Uttar Pradesh Minister of Khadi and Village Industries Mr Satyadev Pachauri, the Machhlishahr MP Ram Charitra Nishad and representatives of several Khadi institutions. On the 67th birthday of the Prime Minister, they also planted 67 fruitbearing samples.

Speaking on the re-launching ceremony, Saxena said that KVIC had decided to celebrate 'Sewa Diwas' with its socio-economic welfare agenda. "It is really a 'dream come true' moment for the people of this area as the re-launching of this Ashram is like restoring their fading legacy," he said, adding, "I hope that within three months, this Ashram will give direct employment to more than 1,000 people of this area."

KVIC had given a special grant of Rs 20 lakhs to the Khadi institutions for renovation and repair of dilapidated buildings and cleaning up the campus. KVIC roped in Rural Electrification Corporation (REC) to use its CSR funds to kick off Khadi activities. REC sanctioned Rs 5.50 crore for this project. Notably, it is the first ever utilization of CSR funds for Khadi activities.

As many as 250 Solar Charkha's and 25 Solar Looms – provided by KVIC – had provided direct employment to 300 people. Out of those 300 people, 250 are local woman between age group of 19 to 45 working on Charkhas, coming from the radius of 22 kms, through the pickup bus, provided by the Khadi Institution. The remaining 50 people are working on looms and other activities.

Even Lijjat papad has established a papad making unit in the center in which 175 local women have been enrolled for the work. Out of 175 women, 132 women are regularly coming at the center. The center has started making 180 kg papad every day. Incidentally, it is the first ever Lijjat Papad manufacturing unit of Varanasi district. Not only that, as the Sewapuri area is an agriculture belt with lots of folora and fauna, an apiary of 100 bee boxes with hives had been set up in the campus, under the 'Honey Mission' programme of the KVIC. It would be used as beekeeping training cum-production center for the farmers of the nearby area. So far 20 local people have got direct employment through the 'Honey Mission' project. Even the pollination would increase the yield of different crops, subsequently increasing the income of the farmers of this area. It is also the first ever apiary with 100 bee-boxes for honey-production and training in Varanasi district.

Keeping in mind that salt was much associated with Gandhiji's freedom struggle, an edible salt -manufacturing and packaging unit has been set up in the campus, which has provided direct employment to as many as 15 local people. Salt would be marketed with the brand name of 'Ashram Salt'. Incidentally, it is also the first ever salt unit established by any Khadi institution in the country.

The old Training center has been revived and with well-trained 10 teaching faculties – it has started giving training on spinning, weaving, soaps and detergents, leather and agarbatti. Over all, more than 520 people have got direct employment and the center has regained its erstwhile glory in just six months' time.

KVIC's Charkha to remind Gandhian glory abroad

KVIC provides 'Gandhi Charkha' for 2nd October celebration in Uganda

New Delhi: By the time Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi left Africa for the last time in 1914 – after his 21 years' stay there, he had already earned the appellation Mahatma (or Great Soul) for his work and strategy championed satyagraha (truthforce) and swablamban (self-reliance). After 103 years, as a tribute to Mahatma Gandhi's significant work in Africa and to showcase the famous tool of self-reliance of Mahatma in Uganda, during the Gandhi Jayanti celebrations being held by the Indian community there, the Khadi and Village Industries Commission (KVIC) has handed over a 'Wooden Gandhi Charkha' on Saturday at New Delhi to the representative of the India's High Commission in Kampala (Uganda). Incidentally, it was the first Charkha, to be installed at a foreign soil under the aegis of KVIC.

Amid much enthusiasm and gaiety, KVIC Chairman Vinai Kumar Saxena and Chief Executive Officer BH Anil Kumar handed over the 'Wooden Gandhi Charkha' to the representative of Indian High Commission in Kampala (Uganda). The Charkha – weighing around 25 kilograms with the acrylic box packing, is made of high-quality teak wood. Its dimensions are 3.6 feet long, 1 foot 11 inch tall and 1.5 feet wide.

After handing over the Charkha, Mr Saxena said that it was a proud moment for KVIC and India as it would not only to cement a long lasting relationship with a continent that shaped Gandhiji's career, but also immortalize and spread his legacy in Africa and beyond. "By putting up this Charkha in Uganda, we will commemorate a great man, who worked hard to spread a message of peace, non-violence and self-reliance in the world," he said.

Minister of State (Independent Charge) of the Ministry of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises Giriraj Singh also hailed the KVIC's decision to provide this Charkha for Gandhi Jayanti celebrations in Uganda.

It may be mentioned here that to promote Gandhian philosophy of self-reliance, the KVIC had recently installed a high-quality stainless-steel climate-resistant Charkha (21 feet long, 10 feet tall and 6 feet wide) at Connaught Place in New Delhi. Prior to it, the KVIC had installed a four-tonne World's Largest Charkha (30 feet long, 17 feet tall and 9 feet wide), made of high-quality Burma teak wood at Terminal 3 of Delhi's Indira Gandhi International (IGI) Airport in New Delhi.

KVIC gifts Charkha to tribal artisans in Gujarat

Arawali: Enthused by Prime Minister Narendra Modi's call to service the last man left in the society, the Khadi and Village Industries Commission (KVIC), distributed Charkhas among the tribal artisans of Kumbhera village – one of the remotest villages located in Arawali district of Gujarat. 430 tribal women have been trained and are linked with Khadi institution Shri Yogi Kripa Gramyodyog Sangh .A new Common Facility Centre (CFC) given to this institution was also inaugurated there, under the ambitious Khadi Reform Development Programme (KRDP) of the KVIC.

KVIC Chairman Vinai K Saxena, who inaugurated the centre, said that generating employment for the tribal folk of this remotest village would reflect Prime Minister's vision of inclusive growth. "It will make the tribal women self-reliant and stop migration of rural population into cities. Implementation of KRDP will rejuvenate the capability of khadi to provide sustainable e m p l o y m e n t opportunities at very low per capita investment. As this area has abundant flora and fauna, the KVIC will launch a bee-keeping training programme in this village. It will not only generate additional income to the families of artisans, rather the yield of the crops in and around the villages will also increase with our 'Honey Mission' program," he said.

It may be noted that in another tribal-dominated village Vanaj in Gujarat – the KVIC had provided 25 charkhas and 5 looms – creating sustainable job opportunities for at least 50 tribal women there.

Earlier, a Khadi Bhawan was also inaugurated at Modasa in Arawali district.

In detailed deliberations bank wise on the pendency it was decided that all the pending claims lying with the banks will be settled by 31.08.2017 and all the proposals lying for sanction will be disposed by 30.09.2017.

Suggestion was also received that for better viability the project ceiling of PMEGP should be increased from Rs. 25 lakhs to Rs. 30 lakhs.

Another suggestion was that CGTSME coverage should be made compulsory for PMEGP and the service charge payable should be paid by the scheme B&F.Allahabad UP Gramin Bank representative requested that their credit rating is approved and therefore they should be covered under CSTSME.

On issues relating to gaps/shortfalls in the documents uploaded alongwith margin money claim by Banks it was decided that a certificate would be forwarded in the margin money claim format of the financing banks and banks will have to tick the box which would read "I have verified all the documents of the applicant and found that they are in order as per the PMEGP scheme norms." This undertaking may be included in the margin money claim format.

It was brought to the notice that DLTFC reduces the figure of project in many cases which is not reflected in the portal when the application is forwarded to the banks on line. Further the recommendations made by DLTFC should be locker so that the same cannot be tampered with.

An issue regarding beneficiaries who had not deposited their own contribution and for this reasons their margin money claim had not been cleared in the on line system was also discussed.

What is national honeybee day?

On August 19th August' 2017, KVIC celebrate National Honey Bee Day to honor the insect that is responsible more than 1/3 of the food we eat. In addition, honeybee provides income, entrepreneurship and employment to humans.

This event shall involve beekeepers, beekeeping NGOs and Associations, and honey bee enthusiasts from all across the country. We take this opportunity to celebrate honey bees and recognize their contribution to our everyday lives as a means of protecting this critical species for future generations. We also pay homage to beekeepers, whose labors and ensure we have bees to pollinate our crops.

Why Honeybee day?

Honeybee are needed for a healthy ecosystem.

Honeybee are necessary for a healthy ecosystem as they play very important role in pollination and improve the productivity of Agri & Horti crops including your gardens. Many species of plant and animals are surviving because of these wonderful creature.

Since 1991, due to climate change, habitat loss and increased use of pesticides and various other factors has adversely affected the honeybee population. Hence it is our responsibility to protect this precious insect. There is lots of awareness have been created, but still needs to be done more.

Beekeeping is a profitable business enterprises for farmers, rural & urban youth. It can be very fulfilling hobby. Many commercial beekeepers are doing beekeeping is profitable and meaningful enterprising.

Anyone can become beekeeper

Anybody Can Become A Beekeeper. It makes no difference if you are a man, woman, or younger child, you can become a beekeeper, whether you live in the Big City, the Suburbs, or out in the countryside!

Honeybees are a joy to keep in the backyard simply for their buzzing presence and, on hot days, the smell of honey, wafting through the air within ten feet of the hive. They increase pollination in your yard and therefore increase your yields from fruit trees and vegetables. You may also harvest honey (gallons per year), beeswax, pollen, and propolis from the hive. Your own honey will provide you a tasty treat for your home table as well as a gift for relatives, friends or neighbors. I never knew of anyone to turn down a free jar of honey!

Your first step is to learn all about honey bees. You need to learn about the three kinds of honey bees that you will find living inside a beehive - the Drone, the Worker and the Queen. Honey bees are highly specialized and a functioning hive needs each of the hive members to perform their job well, or the hive will not survive and prosper. They must work as a team and be willing to sacrifice themselves if need be to keep the hive alive and thriving.

One can make money by Selling Local Honey, Beeswax, Candles, Pollen, Pollination Service, Swarm Catching, Bee Removal Service, etc.

Making some extra money on a regular basis can make a big difference in our everyday lives, besides from simply enjoying the benefits of having your own honey supply, there are a number of ways to make money by keeping honey bees.

Eventually build up to have few extra hives you can produce, honey, rent them locally to farmers growing crops that are pollinated by honey bees. The normal rate for the rental of one hive for a couple of weeks Rs. 500 to Rs. 1000 per hive.

Other opportunities are:

• Selling your excess honey from home or at small local market. You can get a higher price than what it is sold for in your nearby supermarket because it is locally produced honey. Many people believe that eating local honey is very helpful to reducing the negative effects of allergies as it has minute particles of pollen in it from flowers in the area.

- •Excess beeswax can be used to make candles. Package them attractively wrapped by the pair with an attractive ribbon. These can be sold to friends and neighbors or through a local store.
- You can melt beeswax and make small bars of pure beeswax. Some people also use as a lubricant for the bottom rails of cub boards and drawers. You can molds and use these to make any number of beeswax knickknacks.
- •Some women beekeepers collect pollen from the bees to sell in jars as a health food. The equipment to do this is available at any number of beekeeping equipment supply companies.
- •Another big opportunity, if you are so inclined to make yourself available to deal with swarms of bees, it will be double income for beekeeper. The local fire-police towns know that they can give your phone number out whenever they get a call from a local citizen about a swarm being in a tree or bush on their property.

•Removing bees from inside house walls or ceilings affords a great opportunity to add to one's income as a beekeeper. Collect a healthy swarm and bring it home to start a new beehive relatively free of cost. Honey bees are sold by beekeepers for about Rs. 2, 000 per grown colony 8/10 frame colony.

Life in the Hive

Life in the hive is structured: at each stage of a honey bee's life it has a different job. There is an order to the way the colony is run to ensure its survival.

How many types of bee are in a h o n e y b e e c o l o n y? Three - a single queen, thousands of female workers and, in the summer, hundreds of male drones. The drone bees do no work and, in the early autumn, they are evicted by the workers and die.

What does the queen bee do? The major purpose of the queen is to lay eggs. During February and May, she lays day and night, each egg taking about 20 seconds. That's over 2000 eggs a day, more than her own body weight. The queen mates only once and holds sufficient sperm from the male drones to lay eggs for 3-5 years. The drone bee dies in the process of fertilization.

There are three types of wax cell used for eggs. In smaller cells (5 mm diameter) the queen lays fertilized eggs, which in 21 days develop into female worker bees. In larger cells (7 mm diameter) unfertilized eggs are laid, which in 24 days become the male drone bees. The production of offspring that does not require mating is known as parthenogenesis. The third type of cell is a very special cell that hangs vertically downwards, which is developed to produce new queens. A colony producing queen-type cells is a warning to the beekeeper of an impending swarm.

Importance of Bees

What we can learn from bees?

Studying bees adds significantly to the wider education of pupils. For example:

- •Bees are pollinators vital to our food chain. One third of the food we eat would not be available but for bees.
- •Bees, like other insects, are part of a food chain.
 - •The social life of the honey bee colony provides a controversial start to thinking about the structure of societies.

- •The tools that have evolved on the limbs and mouthparts of bees are neat examples of adaptation and engineering.
- •The harvest from honey bees of honey, pollen, wax and propolis has nutritional, craft, manufacturing, and medical applications.
- •Pollination by bees is important for genetic sustainability. Genes that have evolved in other animals are important to our future too.
- •In the India 50 crops are dependent on, or benefit from, visits from bees. In addition, bees pollinate the flowers of many plants which become part of feed for farm animals.
- •Bees are in danger of disappearing from our environment. Farming practices continue to disturb natural habitats and forage of solitary and bumblebees at a rate which gives them little chance for reestablishment. The honey bee is under attack from the varroa mite and it is only the treatment and care provided by beekeepers that is keeping colonies alive. Most wild honey bee colonies have died out as a result of this disease.
- •Attitudes to bees must change and a new generation needs to be educated about the value of bees and the threats to their existence.

A healthy queen bee is continually emitting pheromones (a bee perfume) that only the bees in the hive can smell. These pheromone odors tell the bees in the colony that the queen is still with them and all is well in the hive. This chemical pheromone communication is quite sophisticated and the 'personality' of a beehive will change if the beekeeper changes an old queen for a young one. In this way a beekeeper has some control over the temper and other characteristics of a colony, e.g. honey production.

Does the queen 'rule' the colony?

No, the queen is simply an egg-laying m a c h i n e .

The queen bee has a smaller brain than a worker bee.

Queen making and swarming

- •Bees construct up to 20 wax queen cells, which are acorn-like and point downwards.
- •The queen lays fertilized eggs in each queen cell.
- •The young (nurse) bees feed the young queen larvae with a rich creamy food called royal jelly, and extend the cell downwards until it is about 25mm in length.

- •Nine days after the egg is laid, the first queen cell is sealed with a layer of wax capping.
- •This is the signal for a large swarm (called a prime swarm) of bees, including the queen, to leave the hive led by the older bees. The queen has been starved of food to make her lighter and able to fly. The older bees cajole the queen to join the swarm.
- •Eight days later the first virgin queen leaves her cell. Two things can now occur, either the first virgin queen leads a smaller swarm from the hive (called a cast swarm) or she locates the other queen cells and kills her sisters by stinging through the wax wall of their cells.
- •About one week later the young queen takes her first flight to orientate her to her new surroundings.
- •The queen will shortly take several mating flights in which she will mate with up to 20 drones.
- •Three days later the mated queen will begin to lay fertilized eggs.
 - •This queen will stay with the colony until at least the following year when she too may lead a prime swarm.

How do bees make a queen? The development of a new queen is normally triggered by a combination of conditions, such as congestion in the hive and lack of egg-laying space, which culminates in a swarm

Why is there only one queen? It is not understood (by man) why bees will only tolerate one queen but any attempt to introduce a second queen results in her death. If a queen dies unexpectedly during the summer, the bees are able to make an emergency queen from eggs younger than 3 days old.

How long does a bee live? In the summer a worker bee only lives for about 40 days. As no young are raised over the winter months, the workers born in the autumn will live until the following spring. A queen can live up to five years; however for the beekeeper a queen is past her prime in her third year.

How do bees share out all the jobs in the hive?

When a bee is born, its first job is to clean out the cell in which she was born. Jobs are then allocated on the basis of age.

Duties of Worker Bees

1-2 days - Cleans cells and keeps the brood w a r m 3-5 days - Feeds older larvae 6-11 days - Feeds youngest larvae 12-17 days - Produces wax, builds comb, carries food, undertaker duties 18-21 days - Guards the hive entrance 22+ days - Flying from hive begins, pollinates plants, collects pollen, nectar and water.

How many bees are in a beehive? In high summer about 35,000, dropping to around 5,000 in the winter.

Why do honey bees swarm? A swarm is the natural way for bees to multiply and to produce new colonies. It is normally the culmination of queen rearing.

What is bee 'dancing'?

Bees need to communicate with each other to pass on the location of food sources. To do this bees have evolved a unique dance language that can be understood by us. A worker bee returning from a rich source of food will 'dance' on the vertical comb surface by running in a circle, on each revolution the bee will bisect the circle at an angle.

The angle with respect to 12 o'clock represents the angle to fly with respect to the sun. If the bee ran from 6 to 12 o'clock, i.e. straight up, this would say 'fly directly towards the sun '. If 7 to 1 o'clock, it would mean 'fly just to the right of the sun' and 12 to 6 o'clock 'fly directly away from the sun'. In other words the bees translate the angle to the sun as an angle to the vertical.

To represent the distance to the food source, the bee 'wiggles' its abdomen whist crossing the circle, the more wiggles indicate the greater the distance. So a bee will 'say' to its friends 'fly over there for about a 1 mile and you will find something that tastes like this'. Pretty smart!

The Queen:

- •Will live normally between 1 and 4 years.
- •Consumes royal jelly provided by the workers
 - •Has a non-barbed stinger
- •Without a queen, the colony will eventually die
- •Develops in 16 days, from egg to emergence from the queen cell.

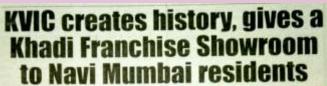

The Workers:

- •Worker are all females.
- •Can number between 40-60,000 in a strong hive.
- •Performs a multitude of tasks to include: Tending to the queen, feeding larvae, feeding drones, nectar ripening, producing heat, collecting water, house cleaning guard duty, field collection of pollen and nectar, to list a few.
- •Will die if she stings. Has a barbed stinger that if left behind after stinging.
- •Will live 6-8 weeks in the summer, working until her wings give out.
- •Will live 4-6 months in winter when not actively working/foraging.
- •Develops in 21 days from egg to emergence.

The Drones:

- •Sole responsibility is fertilization.
- •Leaves hive for 2-3 hours each day.
- •Has no stinger
- •If the workers stopped feeding them, they would die of starvation.
- •Develops in 24 days from egg to hatching to emergence.

कंपनियों

ईटी. नई दिल्ली: रिटेल कंपनियों को गुड़स एंड सर्विसेज हुआ हैं। इन दोनों बदलावों से रिटेल टैक्स (जीएसटी) के तहत हर आइटम की डिटेल के साथ

लंबा बिल नहीं देना पड़ेगा। इससे इन कंपनियों पर बिलिंग और कंप्लायंस का बोझ कम होगा। जिन चीजों पर शुन्य जीएसटी है,

उनके लिए भी रिटेल कंपनियों को अलग से इनवॉइस देने की जरूरत इन कंपनियों को सभी नहीं है और वे सभी चीजों के लिए एक ही बिल दे सकती हैं। जीएसटी काउंसिल ने इन बदलावों को मंजुरी दे दी है। स्टेकहोल्डसं की मांग पर टैक्स की जानकारी देनी एक लॉ कमेटी बनाई गई थी, जिससे पड़ती थी।

मिले सुझाव के आधार पर यह फैसला कंपनियों के लिए इनवॉइस और

फाइलिंग आसान हो जाएगी। वे सभी सामान के लिए एक बिल दे सकती हैं और उसमें सिर्फ कुल टैक्स के बारे में बताना होगा। इससे उन्हें लंबे बिल देने से आजादी मिलेगी। पहले
